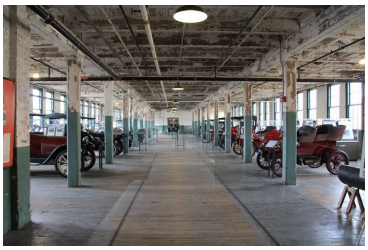
Ford Piquette Avenue Plant Tour & MexicanTown
Wednesday, April 7th, 2027



Ford Piquette Avenue Plant:
Built in 1904, it is the oldest auto plant open to the public in the world. It remains largely unchanged, featuring worn wood plank floors, original fire doors, and Henry Ford's "Positively NO Smoking" stencils. The three-story museum houses over 65 rare vehicles. Highlights include a recreation of Henry Ford's Secret Experimental Room (where the Model T was designed) and his personal office.

MexicanTown:
I hope you worked up an appetite because we're heading down to Southwest Detroit better known to many as MexicanTown. You'll have 1.5 hours here as you'll need time to grab lunch at one of the great restaurants on Bagley Street (MexicanTown, Taqueria Lupitas, Evie's Tamales, Xochimilco, or Los Galanes). The choice is yours as lunch will be on your own. Afterwards grab a gift at Xochi's Gift Shop and make sure you grab dessert at La Gloria Bakery.
